Listening to Our Champions

Following Children’s Mental Health Awareness Week, Community Champions and School Champions were asked to complete an online survey to share their experience and feedback about the 2021 Campaign.

We loved all of the resources this year! Our county utilized all of the toolkits, social media posts, drawings, resilience calendar and much more! This campaign is amazing every year I have participated. Everything is complete for you to use which makes things so easy!!

[Awareness Week is] always great! This year, required that we all think outside the box. This was one of the best year’s yet.

Due to the pandemic, not all of our students were in the physical school building. This impacted how we engaged all of the students. Those students that were physically in the building seemed to respond more positively to the activities.

Thank you for facilitating this awesome campaign - it is essential for schools, organizations, and the community to be aware of and proactive about children’s mental health!

One student who had not been attending virtual school daily wrote the Principal and shared that she was having mental health concerns as a result of a Morning Announcement she heard. Staff were able to intervene as a Risk Assessment had to be conducted and parents were notified of the student’s concerns.

We really enjoyed being a Community Champion and being able to connect with other community champion organizations to promote county-wide efforts. We received positive feedback about our lobby displays and appreciated having all of the educational materials from CMHM to distribute. We were able to partner with other organizations, including the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, to enhance the impact of our outreach efforts. For example, we co-hosted a Talk Saves Lives event during Children’s Mental Health Awareness Week.

We are really grateful for the support we received from our Community Champions this year!

Mount Airy Middle supported children’s mental health throughout Awareness Week. The school engaged students in activities that promoted positive mental health. In addition, the school created a virtual mindfulness room that students could utilize when feeling overwhelmed or stressed.
CROSSROADS COMMUNITY INC
Caroline, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Anne’s, Talbot Counties

DEPARTMENT OF PARKS AND RECREATION
Prince George’s County

The PG Department of Parks and Recreation engaged their community around the importance of children’s mental health throughout Awareness Week. Along with community partners, the department created a month long chalk contest to engage youth and families.

VICTORIA SHOE
Carroll County

Victoria created a dragon themed bulletin board in her middle school to support and promote positive mental health. She designed the bulletin board – adding dragon artwork and encouraging captions underneath each image. The concept of the bulletin board was a dragon first in its egg, then emerging, and finally maturing and being able to fly. Victoria’s board illustrated the journey a person can take towards positive mental health – we may start afraid and restricted, but with support and an open mind we can reach good mental health and develop our wings to fly. Students were encouraged to take their picture in front of the wings. Victoria was nominated as a Student Champion for her exemplary efforts to support and bolster children’s mental health in her school.
Celebrating Through Art: The First Lady’s Mental Health Awareness Youth Art Display

Maryland’s First Lady, Mrs. Yumi Hogan, invited children and youth to participate in an annual statewide art project. Due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the First Lady’s Mental Health Awareness Youth Art Display was held virtually. The art display showcased a selection of artwork from Maryland’s youth; Young artists shared their pieces and what makes them feel mentally happy, healthy or hopeful. The art display was coordinated in partnership with the Maryland Department of Disabilities. Go here to view the full artwork album.
